FHA Loans Will Develop Farms

Credit needs of Appomattox farmers faced with developing and enlarging their farms so they will have a successful farm operation are being served by the USDA Farmers Home Administration's farm ownership loan program.

Hunter P. Evans, FHA County Supervisor, reported this fact while explaining this week that this is a nationwide problem faced by many farm families.

"There are thousands of American farmers who need financial assistance in combining small tracts of land, making soil and water improvements, establishing permanent pastures, improving or constructing dwellings and essential farm buildings or taking necessary measures to increase the efficiency and income-producing capacity of their holdings,' Mr. Evans pointed out.

Those facing this problem—in general—are in a group of some 1,200,000 United States farms that are in need of additional income to remain in business under today's farming conditions.

Mr. Evans emphasized that farms are tailored to the individual farm and farmer's needs. The borrower also is given assistance in the analysis of his financial problems and shown how to determine the land resources needed for success.

Farmers Home Administration ownership loan applications may be made at Mr. Evans' office at Farmville. The office is located in the Watson Insurance Building. Mr. Evans also has parttime office hours at Appomattox at the ASCS office on Tuesday mornings from 9:00 to 9:30 a.m.
